Jubilant members of the 'Temple of the eye' rejoice and salute their Chief architect's recognition as 'Outstanding Institution Builder' by nation's leading management body

Participants along with Dr.SS Badrinath, Chairman Emeritus, Sankara Nethralaya at the AIMA function

It was yet another befitting recognition to a man whose only goal was to build and develop an institution which would fulfill his dream of providing quality eye care, especially to those who cannot afford it and eradicate blindness from the face of the earth. The ethical and path breaking means he adopted to reach his goal threw light on the other side of the legendary doctor and won him and his institution such accolades as 'The best managed charitable institution in India' by none other than the legendary Nani Palkhivala, his business model as a self sustaining non-profit evoked critical acclaim and became a subject of study by students from international B-schools and his able governance made his institution an acclaimed 'Social Enterprise'. It was a moment of crowning glory for his institution, the entire Sankara Nethralaya family and its leading architect when the AIMA (All India Management Association) the premium and apex body for management professionals chose to honour Dr. SS.Badrinath with the title 'Outstanding Institution Builder' in its highly prestigious 'Managing India Awards'- 2014.

Sankara Nethralaya's giant stride to yet another milestone

In its pursuit to excellence, Jagadguru Kanchi Sri Chandrasekarendra Nethra Nilayam, yet another centre of distinction under the Medical Research Foundation demonstrated its clear commitment to highest level of care for its patients, infection control and prevention, leadership and medical management, to be awarded India's most coveted accreditation for hospitals and health care providers awarded by "National Board of Accreditation for Hospitals."(NABH)

Sankara Nethralaya is proud to be awarded the prestigious NABH in recognition of its outstanding compliance with the stringent national and international standards aimed towards patient safety and delivery of Quality Health Care. Various steps towards this included sensitization programs, Training, implementation, monitoring of quality indicators, documentation of hospital wide policies and quality manuals.

Sankara Nethralaya has extraordinarily complied with the audit assessment by assessors who commended the management for world class services, delivery and infrastructure.

Post graduate trainee's stupendous performance wins her Gold

Dr. Abhilasha Maheshwari, pursuing her Post graduate degree offered by the Diplomate National Board of examination at the CU Shah institute of Post graduate Science, Sankara Nethralaya won the "Divya Chaturvedi gold medal award' for her outstanding performance on the paper subspeciality of uveitis and inflammatory diseases, in the examinations held in April' 2014.

SN Alumni celebrate their Silver Jubilee meet by the sea side

SN Alumni meet at GRT Temple Bay, Mammallapuram

It was a day of salutation to their Guru, their Alma mater on the auspicious occasion of Gurupoornima, on 12th and 13th of July, 2014, for all 83 alumni who gathered at the GRT Temple Bay, Mammallapuram that synchronized with the Silver Jubilee Celebrations. Welcoming the gathering, Dr.Natarajan, Chairman and Managing Director, Aditya Jyot Eye Hospital, Mumbai paid glorious tributes to his guru and mentor Dr.SS Badrinath. Speaking on the occasion Dr.T.S.Surendran, Vice Chairman took the audience on an interesting walk through nostalgic moments. He showered praise on Dr.Manju Kulkarni, an alumna of Sankara Nethralaya for the record number of surgeries that she performed spanning 30 hours without a break.

Dr.SS.Badrinath, Chairman Emeritus in his address highlighted the noble services of Dr Mehul Shah and Dr Shreya Shah, Drashti Netralaya, Dahod, Gujarat and Dr.Muralidhar Srimat Tirumala at Bhubaneswar and remarked that his core aim of alleviating blindness among the downtrodden gathered momentum with them. He observed that collaborative research in ophthalmology along with LV Prasad Eye Institute, Hyderabad and Aravind Eye Hospital, Madurai was in the anvil. Another interesting note that he added was the Obama- Singh initiative grant that Dr.Prema Padmanabhan, Director, Cornea Services, had signed with Indiana University for Corneal studies particularly with respect to Lasik.

Releasing the book, “Recollections from A Golden Era”, Dr.Krishnan, former Anaesthetist at Sankara Nethralaya, paid rich accolades to the author Dr. Ian Sundararaj, Chief Advisor- Anaesthesiology for his yeoman services and innovations. The occasion also witnessed awarding of the “Outstanding Teacher Award”, to Prof. N. Sundaram, father of Dr.S.Natarajan.

Delivering the SN Alumni oration, Dr. Deepak Edward, Jonas S. Friedenwald Professor of Ophthalmology and a Professor of pathology at the Wilmer Eye Institute and the Director of Research at King Khaled Eye Specialist Hospital in Riyadh, Kingdom of Saudi Arabia presented a fascinating talk on “Millennial Generation: Challenges and Opportunities”, subtly covering the whole gamut of characteristics and values of generations and the implications of medicine. The occasion served as an effective knowledge exchange platform on the latest advancements. Dr. Pukhraj Rishi, Consultant, VR Department won the Dr.Nataraja Pillai Free paper award for his presentation on “Sclero Uvectomy for leiomyoma”. The silver jubilee celebrations concluded with all the attendees exchanging pleasantries while immensely thanking their “Guru”, for he had shown them “Never to pause, but work like a clock”, to be great achievers.

A veteran of Sankara Nethralaya looks back with passion and pride!

An institution it is said is as good or as bad as its people, an institution divinely ordained Sankara Nethralaya was blessed with great people along its journey, people who contributed towards the fulfillment of its dreams. One such person who made a significant impact on the functioning and growth of the institution is Dr Ian Sundararaj a man who quit government service to join the institution to explore new horizons in the field of anaesthesiology. He served his department and the institution with single minded dedication, distinction and added great quality to the art and science of anaesthesiology, he continues to serve at the CU Shah Sankara Nethralaya as Senior Advisor anaesthesiology.

*Dr. Krishnan, former Anaesthetist,
Dr Ian Sundararaj, Chief Advisor- Anaesthesiology
Dr Mohan Rajan, Rajan Eye care along with Dr.SS Badrinath, Chairman Emeritus, Sankara Nethralaya*

Dr. Sundararaj realized that he had lived through the most momentous times and decided to freeze his indelible memories for the benefit of the present and future generations. His book “Recollections from A Golden Era” captures these great moments in a light and lucid narrative style with humorous anecdotes. The interesting memoir was launched at the Silver Jubilee Alumni meet held on the 13th of July 2014 at the GRT Temple Bay Hotel, Mahabalipuram.

The Mobile Eye Surgical Unit (MESU) crosses a major landmark

Patients at the MESU camp at Periyamuthur, Krishnagiri District

It was a jubilant and momentous occasion for every member of the teams involved in developing and operating the Mobile Eye Surgical Units (MESU) the first of its kind operation theater on wheels, a medico engineering marvel developed jointly by IIT-Madras and Sankara Nethralaya, with a view to taking the most advanced cataract surgery totally cost free served to its 1000th patient in a remote hilly hamlet in Tamil Nadu. The MESU team of Dr P.S. Rajesh, Senior Consultant, Dr. Sudarshan, Senior Consultant, Shri V.Sivakumar, Administrator, Jaslok Community Ophthalmology Center conducted the camp at Periyamuthur a remote hamlet in the hilly terrain of Krishnagiri District in Tamil Nadu, a place not served by Medicare. The camp was sponsored by Captain Samraj, a local resident and ex-service man with a strong passion to serve the underprivileged living in the neighbourhood. A total of 106 surgeries were carried out over 12 days with a 100% success rate and nil post operative complications. The sentiment of the local people could be gauged by the highly touching gesture of Govindammal a patient who refused to remove her eye pad after being operated upon in the absence of Shri K Arul Kumar, camp coordinator who had persuaded her to attend the camp and have her eyes examined. It was only after he presented himself before her that she agreed to have the pad removed so she could behold the sight of the man who was responsible for her regaining her vision as the very first sight with her newly regained eye sight.

The Florence Nightingales of Sankara Nethralaya make a touching gesture on 'International Nurse's Day

SN's Nurses being greeted on "International Nurses' Day"

Nethralaya's Nightingales the caring Sisters in white have played a major role in capturing the spirit of service and compassion at Sankara Nethralaya.
