

Chimanlal Ujanshibhai Shah fondly referred to as CU Shah is a man with an exclusive place in the history of India as a large hearted philanthropist, foremost educationist and visionary, he is also enshrined in the indelible memory of the common man who benefited and continues to benefit by his acts of generosity. Born in year 1918 in Gujarat, he graduated with distinction in the LLB examinations and joined a firm in Africa engaged in EXIM business. He came back to India and started his own international trade in year 1944 and grew his business to great heights through his hard work and ethical business practices. A man with a deep sense of giving back to society, he was strongly drawn towards social causes especially in the field of education and healthcare. This undying passion led to the formation of service oriented healthcare/educational institutions in Gujarat, Mumbai and Chennai including a full-fledged Medical University at Surendranagar, Gujarat. The greatness of Shri CU Shah was that he not only extended huge monetary support to start these institutions but evinced deep interest in their efficient running and was involved in their administration and functioning.

He was among the founding pillars of the institution who shared the philosophy and ideals of the proposed institution and the quality of care it would provide and helped with the much needed seed capital towards its creation. A grateful Sankara Nethralaya has named a centre at St Thomas Mount, the eye bank at its main campus and its Post Graduates training centre in honour and gratitude of this great man, we reiterate on his centennial year that SN would have remained a dream without his timely and generous support 4 decades ago.
